

Q1: What are your core values and beliefs?

A1: My core values are honesty, and hard work. and I'm a believer in collaboration and teamwork. I believe in being transparent about my work, admitting mistakes when they occur, and taking responsibility for their resolution.

Q2: What are your goals and aspirations?

A1: My goal is, I want to learn different programming language and want to become a full stack web developer. I always try to learn different technology.

Q2: What are the first steps you will take to build your personal brand?

A1: I will try to share my technology knowledge various social platforms. Such as LinkedIn, Facebook etc. and will try to build up my network with various people.

Q2: How does personal branding differ from self-promotion, and why is this distinction important?

A1: Self-promotion is quick and attention-grabbing, but it may not be sustainable or effective in the long run and the Personal branding is takes time and effort, but it can create a strong foundation for success.

Q2: What are you most proud of?

A1: I'm a front-end developer; it's a matter of pride for me. If I can become a full-stack developer, then it will be more proud for me. And I'm working on it.